

Family time is a hard thing to get with out outside interruptions. As it is right now my husband and I are on different shifts, so no matter what time the phone rings one of us would be sleeping. I do not like the fact that we would have to shut our ringers off or deal with unwanted intrusions via the telephone. Your home should be a a relaxing safe place to be. Thank you for your time.